The SAA Committee highlighted the areas where specific efforts are needed to improve compliance with the SAA, such as the improvement of the control of State aid, and the safeguard measures imposed by Serbia on certain agricultural products.

Finally, the SA Committee reviewed the extensive financial assistance provided by the EU to Serbia. The EU is committed to continue supporting Serbia's EU accession process including financially. Since 2007, close to € 1.8 billion has been granted to support Serbia's accession. Following the floods in May 2014, the EU already allocated € 173.6 million of grants to support reconstruction and recovery efforts. The current EU-wide refugee migratory crisis has seriously affected Serbia, as one of the main transit countries on the Western Balkans route. The EU has supported the Western Balkans in dealing with the crisis, in particular Serbia, which received more than € 30 million since August 2015. Since 2000 the EU, together with its member states, has been by far the biggest donor with a contribution amounting to 75 percent of all donations received by Serbia.
